

Duje Antišić

Captain

Duje Antišić was born in 1997 in the coastal city of Split, Croatia. His father, a seasoned sailor, introduced him to the sea's vastness and taught him the ways of the waves from a tender age.

From the moment he could walk, Duje found himself aboard the ship Konkordia, his second home amidst the rolling tides. His childhood was colored by the sights and sounds of maritime life as he shadowed his father's every move, absorbing the intricate knowledge of marine mechanics and navigation like a sponge.

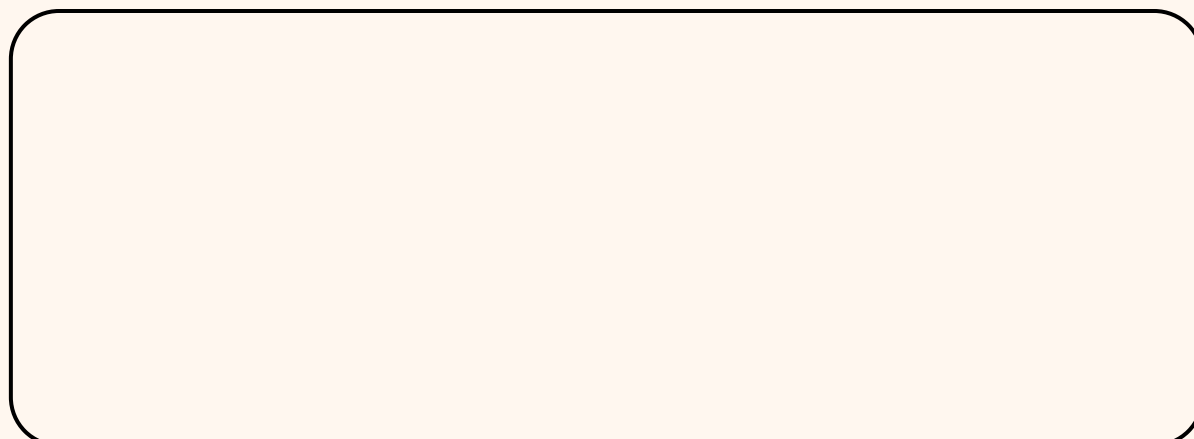

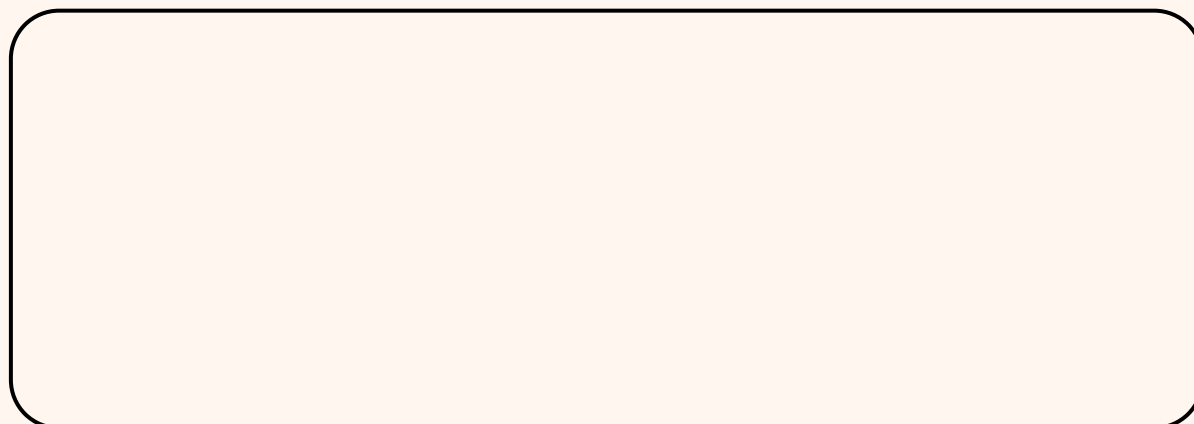

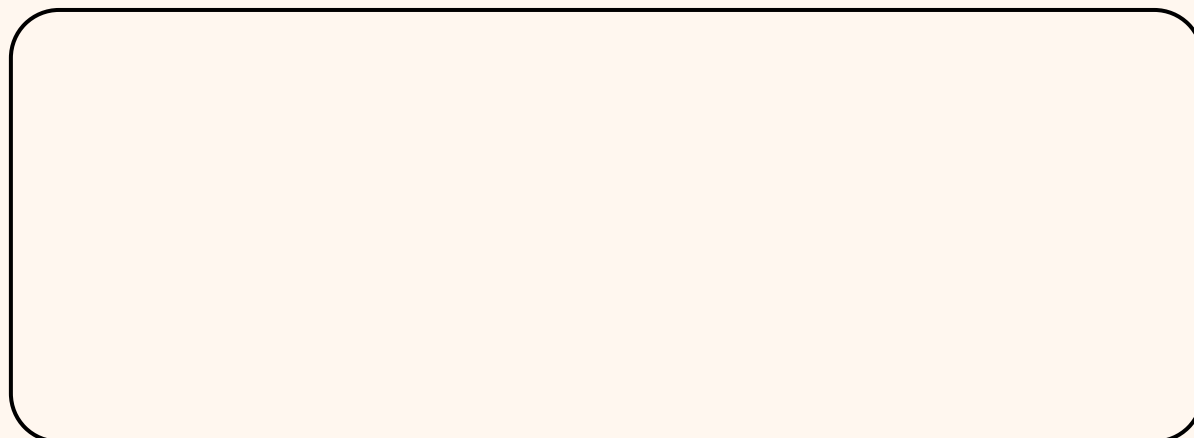

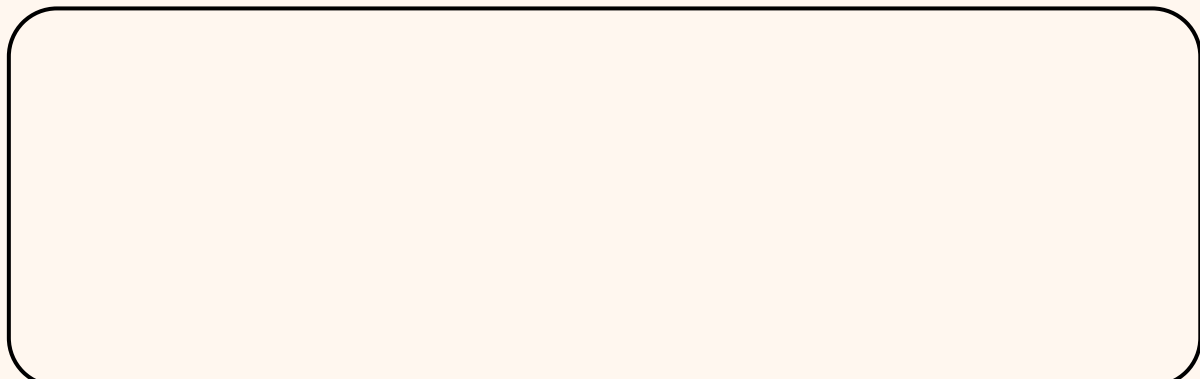

As he matured, Duje's passion for the sea only deepened. Eager to expand his horizons, he ventured beyond the confines of Konkordia, joining crews on various vessels, each voyage offering new lessons and challenges to conquer. His versatility as a sailor became evident as he transitioned between roles - from sailor to machinist, helmsman to diving master, and eventually earning the prestigious title of yacht master.

But Duje's passions extend beyond the confines of the sea's embrace. When he's not navigating the high seas, you'll likely find him astride a roaring motorbike, the wind in his hair, and the thrill of the open road beneath his wheels. An avid professional diving and water sports enthusiast, he finds solace and exhilaration in exploring the depths and embracing the elements in all their splendor.
